

Valmont acquires industry leader Site Pro 1

July 16, 2008 - The Valmont Specialty Structures Group, part of the Engineered Support Structures division of Valmont Industries, Inc., announced today the acquisition of Site Pro 1 Inc., a leader in the wireless components industry.

Site Pro 1 has headquarters in New York, with additional locations in Atlanta, GA and Santa Fe Springs, CA. The strategic merger creates a national network of five locations that will give Valmont-Site Pro 1 the ability to provide its customers in the near future one day delivery of wireless components throughout 48 states.

"We will combine the best practices of both companies to create an unrivaled wireless components supplier," said Joe Kerner, Vice President and General Manager of Valmont Specialty Structures Group while announcing the acquisition.

"The engineering expertise and the additional manufacturing capabilities of Valmont will be joined with the industry-leading customer service team of Site Pro 1 to provide our customers with the best overall solution," he said.

Site Pro 1 Inc.'s President, Joe Catapano, is joining the Valmont team and will be leading the integration of the two companies to maximize the strengths and benefits of Valmont and Site Pro 1.

"We are excited about offering our customers more choices and an enhanced customer experience," Catapano said.